Section 2 – Eligibility Questions

If you tick a yellow answer to any of the following questions you are not automatically ruled out from becoming a Special Constable but your application may need to be checked by the recruitment department before proceeding; you are advised to seek advice from the recruitment team at the earliest opportunity.

Question	Yes	No
Vetting Questions: In answering these questions, please include 'spent convictions' under the Rehabilitation of Offenders Act, and traffic convictions (other than parking fines).
Have you ever been cautioned or convicted of a criminal offence?
Have you ever been involved in any other criminal investigation?
Have you been charged or summonsed for an offence that has not yet been dealt with?
Do you have any relative or associate (including co-resident) who you know or have reason to believe has criminal convictions (excluding traffic convictions), OR is engaged in criminal activities, OR is a person who associates regularly with such persons?
Other Questions:
In the last three years, have you spent any continuous period of over one month outside of the UK? Time spent abroad is unlikely to be a bar to recruitment however you may be asked to supply certificates of good conduct from the local police authorities of the countries you have visited. From experience this may take some time and involve some cost to you.
Do you intend on continuing with any other employment for hire or gain or any other business interest when you apply to become a Special Constable?
Do you or your spouse (unless separated) or close relative living with you have a financial interest in any license or permit relating to liquor, betting or gaming or the regulation of places of entertainment?
Do you have any tattoos or piercings? Tattoos (or piercings) are not a bar to appointment, however, some tattoos (or piercings) could potentially offend members of the public or colleagues, or could bring discredit to the Police Service - it depends on their size, nature, location and sometimes on the extent.
Is your Body Mass Index (BMI) between 18 and 30? This can be determined if you know your weight and your height. The actual calculation is your weight (in kilograms) divided by your height (in metres). Guidance and easy to use charts on how to calculate your BMI can be found on the NHS website. You cannot be appointed to the role if your BMI (or body fat percentage) is outside the acceptable range.
Do you meet the Eyesight Standards for police officers? http://www.college.police.uk/en/docs/Eyesight_standards_police_recruitment.pdf If you do not meet the eyesight standards you cannot be appointed as a Special Constable. However, you may wish to consider laser eye surgery in order to meet the standards. Candidates, who would consider laser eye surgery, can apply and progress their application through the assessment stages to avoid spending money before knowing whether they are otherwise appointable to the role.

Section 3 – Role Considerations

Before committing to the application process, and a career as a Special Constable, here are some aspects of the role that you are strongly advised to consider:

Question	Yes	No
Where you will serve and your home address Do you live within 20 miles of the station to which you wish to be posted? Thames Valley Police will only pay mileage expenses up to 20 miles each way. This is also considered to be the maximum advisable distance between your Home address and base station for Health & Safety / welfare reasons.
24 hour, 365 days a year role Being a Special Constable will often involve you being out and about on foot patrol, in all weathers and at all hours of the day (shifts cover 24 hours a day, 365 days a year). You may be asked to work a variety of shifts including night work, weekends and bank holidays. The Special Constable role is not a weekday only role. As a Special Constable, are you prepared to work shifts and unpredictable hours?

Standards of dress Would you be able to put aside your own sense of style and dress and comply with the police uniform and dress code? Please note: The police uniform and dress code makes allowances for items of religious dress.
Employment / Other Volunteer Roles Are you intending to undertake paid employment (or other voluntary work) whilst being a Special Constable? In most cases this will not be a problem; however you should be aware that there are some jobs (volunteer roles) which are known as “precluded occupations”. These are roles where there is potential for a conflict of interest to arise between the job and the role of Special Constable. Some relevant examples are: Precluded Occupations – Roles where you would not be allowed to be appointed as a Special Constable <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Bar work • Door Staff • Custody visitor volunteer Precluded Occupations – Roles where you may be allowed to be appointed as a Special Constable depending on the nature of the work <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Security work • Any role in the criminal justice sector This is not a definitive list. If you have any queries you should contact the Recruitment Department to discuss.
Effect on private life Being a Special Constable means that sometimes, in your day-to-day private life, you have to put yourself on duty and take appropriate actions even when you are off duty. Are you prepared for this?
Following rules Could you follow strict rules and authority to carry out the needs of the service?
Fitness The job can involve strenuous physical activity and it is important to maintain high fitness levels to ensure you can effectively protect yourself and others. Police officers (including Special Constables) are expected to take part in annual fitness tests. Do you feel confident about continually maintaining a high level of fitness throughout your career as a Special Constable?
Training You will be required to attend initial training upon appointment which will be every other weekend over 18 weeks. After the initial training you will be required to attend update training on a regular basis. Are you able to make this professional development commitment?
Minimum Hours It is expected that Special Constables will volunteer for a minimum of 18 hours per month. Are you able to make this commitment?
Prepared to give evidence in court Are you prepared to stand up and provide evidence in court?
Using initiative Are you happy about working in a team, but also confident about taking the initiative when needed?
Paperwork Are you able to complete paperwork and meticulously keep detailed records?
Dealing with difficult situations You will have to deal with circumstances or scenes of a difficult or distressing nature e.g. road traffic collisions, child cruelty, sudden deaths. Could you deal with traumatic and distressing situations with sensitivity and a level head?

If any of your answers in the third section fall into the yellow column, you may want to take some time to consider whether the role of Special Constable is right for you before proceeding to the application stage.

Section 4 – Code of Ethics – Policing Principles

A draft Code of Ethics has been published by the College of Policing. (<http://www.college.police.uk/en/20972.htm>) This code sets out the principles and standards of behaviour we expect to see from police professionals. It applies to every individual who works in policing, whether a warranted officer (including Special Constable), police staff, volunteer or someone contracted to work in a police force.

If you tick any red answers or have any questions or doubts over whether you can comply with the principles and standards set out below then you should not submit an application.

Question	Yes	No	Maybe
